Open Doors Day of RUTA® House

May, 2015

This participative discussion on sustainable construction was organized by Soča Valley development Centre. Event, that included lectures, presented by local architects and guided tour around the house, took place in Zatolmin.

RUTA® House is a showcase of sustainable building and an example of private initiative that serves also public interest. Architects explained the importance of well-prepared project documentation, the need and benefits of intense cooperation between architect, civil engineer, craftsmen and client/investor during the whole process and the difficulties investor might come across.

Within the event, local SMEs had the opportunity to present and display their products made of sustainable materials, mainly wood and recycled furniture.
